Living Stewardship: "Some believers tithe. Others try to keep a balanced perspective by living simply. Some choose to place a self-imposed limit on their savings. Then there are those radical few who choose to live without any possessions or belongings beyond what is absolutely essential. Regardless of the path we choose, we must seek to remove every obstacle to embrace our loving God."

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

Our annual Forty Hours Devotion will take place today after the 10:30AM Mass, and will conclude this Tuesday, at 7:00PM with evening prayer. Fr. Eric J. Banecker, Pastor of St. Francis de Sales Parish, and a native South Philadelphian, son of Epiphany Parish, will be our homilist during this wonderful grace-filled time for our parish.

Also, the Mass book for 2022 will open on Tuesday, October 26, 2021. More information about this will be forthcoming.

In today's Gospel reading from St. Mark, Jesus offers us challenging words.

1st Challenge: "No one is good but God alone." We can see in the rich young man the human impulse to try to earn or deserve God's love. We, too, fall into that type of thinking: "I don't deserve it unless I've earned it." There is nothing you or I can do to make God love us more or less. God's love is a gift. God loves us absolutely and unconditionally because God is good-not because we are. Our life as disciples is a free response to God's love for us. It doesn't matter who you are. Doesn't everyone find it difficult to comprehend and accept the unconditional love of God? How could God love me, flaws and all? How can God forgive what I have done? Does God really love me absolutely? YES!!! Tempted as we might be to walk away from this fact, dismiss it, or rationalize our way around it, we must all wrestle with it. We are absolutely precious in God's eyes and God loves us absolutely.

2nd Challenge: "It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God." This should challenge every American-rich, poor, or in-between-because it suggests that in God's eyes, wealth does not equal privilege; rather, it becomes an obstacle for entry into the kingdom! Money and possessions can hinder our relationship with God and our culture finds that a tough pill to swallow. Jesus is clear on this fact throughout the Gospel, "You cannot love both God and money (Matthew 6:24), and your life can only be at the service of one another. Every would-be disciple, you and I included, stands at this crossroad. Knowing full well that the wealthy young man might walk away at this request, Jesus nonetheless invited him to be His disciple: to choose one master and to love and serve God rather than money or possessions. Jesus approaches each of us today with a similar invitation.

3rd Challenge: "Amen I say to you, there is no one who has given up house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children... who will not receive a hundred times more." Each of us is tempted to skip over, evade, or minimize the most demanding words of Jesus. Simply put, saints are the men and women who don't. They wrestle with those words, pray with them, and find their lives changed by them. Saints know the sacrifice of following Jesus, but they also know that the struggle holds a hundred-fold promise of fullness of life, joy, and the love of God in their lives, now and for all eternity.

You and I are called to be saints. Are we up to accepting Jesus' challenge?

Be assured of my prayers. I ask you to please remember me in your prayers.

God Bless!
Father Di Orio
