SUMMER RENEWAL

Everyone looks forward to much needed time away from the daily routines of work and worries. A weekend at the shore or in the mountains does wonders for the body and spirit! Let's use this time to appreciate the wonders of God's creation and thank Him for His goodness.

As you travel with family and friends, please remember your Parish Family. You are respectfully asked to continue to support Stella Maris by keeping up with your contributions. God will surely reward you.

Thank you for your continued generosity and support. May you enjoy the beauty of summer and return home safely.

rom the Pastor's Desk

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

This weekend we welcome Father Jeremy Morais, M.S., a La Salette Missionary, who will speak to us about the Missionary endeavors of his community. The second collection next weekend will be for this appeal. Thank you for your generosity.

God wants us to experience His infinite mercy and allow it to define our discipleship. He wants us to experience Him as He is so that we can live the life He planned for us. Pope Francis writes: "Mercy is the first attribute of God. The name of God is mercy. There are no situations we cannot get out of; we are not condemned to sink into quicksand." Experiencing and trusting in God's mercy are the primary tasks of discipleship.

In our first reading from the Book of Genesis, God's mercy is relentless, captured in the divine dialogue between Abraham and God. Abraham's persistence is met with God's eagerness to grant mercy. Therefore, God's response to those who call upon His name is first and foremost, mercy. God is far more preoccupied with finding even the slightest sign of goodness, holiness, and repentance than with being preoccupied about our sinfulness. There isn't any sin that is too big for God's mercy. The face of mercy is Christ Himself. Through Jesus, the mercy of God became flesh and tenderly embraced those most in need of reconciliation with God. Jesus offered salvation to the world, not because of our own merit, but by God's mercy. This reminds us that divine mercy is more about who God is than whether or not we are deserving. God wants us to experience divine mercy. Mercy is our daily bread. God offers us mercy daily, at every moment, right now, and we need it. He knows that we struggle daily with fear, anxiety, self-hate, sin and shame. Each moment He wants to offer us His mercy and help. God never tires of forgiving us; it is we who get tired of asking for forgiveness. But God is patient and He waits for us always. Our Father invites us for our daily bread. With grateful hearts, we should gather around the Eucharist Table each week.

As disciples who receive the mercy of God, we are obligated to teach others about God's mercy by the way we forgive and love.

Be assured of my prayers and I ask you to pray for me.

Happy summer!
God Bless!
Fr. Di Orio

ASKING FOR HELP

The Beatitudes praise the poor in spirit. One characteristic of those who are poor in spirit is their ability to ask for help; they know when others can provide what they lack. Today's readings encourage us to practice poverty in spirit by asking God for what we need. What could be more natural than to ask God for good things? God is, after all, the inventor of goodness and the giver of all good things.

Asking God for help puts us in conversation with God. These conversations take many forms. The reading from Genesis shows Abraham bantering with God like a skilled negotiator, while Saint Paul's letter to the Colossians praises God for answering us even when we don't deserve it. In Saint Luke's Gospel, Jesus not only gives us words to use in our conversations with God (the Our Father), but also promises that God always listens to our prayers.
